

Draw the Lines

TEACHERS:

Opportunity for your students. They can...

Win
$5,000+

Build their resume

Help fix democracy

“ This is an excellent opportunity for students to learn about the way the world around them works... For a kid to have a chance at possibly shaping his future is kind of cool. ”

Students from Roman Catholic High School (Philadelphia)

Competition details:

Open to all PA students

Enter as individuals or teams

No limit to number of submissions

Deadline: May 20

WAYS TO PARTICIPATE

- Promote the opportunity to your most engaged students. They could win up to $5,500 in regional and state prizes.
 - Invite us to talk to your class, a school club, or a group of students.
 - Send a team to one of DTL's multi-school mapathon events.
 - Work with us to set up a competition with your school's biggest rival.
 - Let us help you connect your students to their lawmakers to show their map.
 - Teach a unit on redistricting using one of DTL's project-based learning lessons. Our education team can assist.
-

QUESTIONS OR COMMENTS?

- Visit drawthelinespa.org for a demo of the mapping platform
- See our Teacher Toolkit for useful resources in and out of class
- Email us: info@drawthelinespa.org
- Follow us on social media: @drawthelinespa

Draw the Lines PA is a statewide civic education and engagement project of the Committee of Seventy, a non-partisan good government non-profit based in Pennsylvania.

Draw the Lines